

TIME CONSUMING & EXPENSIVE HMRC TAX
INVESTIGATIONS ARE ON THE INCREASE

WE CAN PROTECT YOU WHEN HMRC STRIKE

You will incur additional accountancy fees in the event of an HMRC investigation even if you've done nothing wrong.

HMRC FACTS

£35 Billion is the estimated tax gap between what HMRC should collect and what it does collect.

£17.9 Billion of the tax gap is attributed to Small Businesses (£14 bn) and Individuals (£3.9bn).

Tax and VAT Investigations are a key tool in reducing this deficit.

HMRC identify and target areas where they believe tax is at risk. They use sophisticated software to cross match a wide range of data sources, any anomalies can lead to an investigation. They do of course continue to carry out random investigations.

IMPACT ON YOU

HMRC investigations are time consuming, stressful and costly.

Investigations can last for many months. During this time you will incur additional accountancy fees as well as having to deal with inevitable disruption and uncertainty. These fees will still be due regardless of the outcome and dealing with HMRC on your own often makes matters worse.

PROTECT YOURSELF, REMOVE THE STRESS

The best defence to an HMRC investigation is to engage professional representation from your accountant from the outset. The service will safeguard you from the cost of the accountancy fees associated with a tax investigation giving you peace of mind.
